Summer Camps at NTC: Where KIDS Get Creative

FREE OPEN HOUSE SET FOR APRIL 18, 10 am – 2 pm
Dick Laub NTC Command Center
2640 Historic Decatur Road, San Diego 92106

SAN DIEGO – March 16, 2015- At the NTC Arts & Culture District in Liberty Station, the former Naval Training Center, sailors once trained for military service; now a new generation of “recruits” gets their training in the areas of art, music and dance. Classes, workshops are presented throughout the year by dozens of cultural groups, but this summer, something special is taking shape: 10 NTC resident arts and culture groups are collaborating to present joint promotion Summer Camps at NTC: Where KIDS Get Creative.

Presented by the nonprofit NTC Foundation, Summer Camps at NTC are ideal for families looking for creative experiences for their children, ages 4-17. Camps feature music, dance, theatre, creative writing, hands-on art making, photography and more...all in the historic heart of Liberty Station. “This summer, kids can explore and discover new skills in San Diego’s growing Arts and Culture District,” said NTC Foundation Executive Director Alan Ziter. “We encourage parents to let their kids get creative with local artists this summer.”

A FREE NTC Summer Camp Open House is set for Saturday, April 18th from 10am to 2pm so that parents can learn about the camps, visit the art studios, meet instructors and explore the NTC campus. Summer Camp participants will display information about their offerings during the Open House at the Dick Laub NTC Command Center, 2640 Historic Decatur Road.
